TRANSPORTATION AND TOUR GUIDE

2010 National Scout Jamboree
Boy Scouts of America

100 YEARS OF SCOUTING
Celebrating the Adventure • Continuing the Journey

Methods of Transportation

Rail Travel

Amtrak offers group fares, based on inventory availability, for 20 or more passengers traveling together. Discounts of up to 20 percent may be available for each 20 paying passengers. The adult fare shall be the applicable excursion fare. Youth 15 years and younger may travel at one-half the adult excursion fare at a ratio of two for each adult fare.

Excursion fares are available on an inventory-controlled basis. Advance planning is a must.

All group reservations must be made by calling 800-872-1477, or use the online group travel form at www.amtrak.com, fax to 800-872-2398, or e-mail groupsales@amtrak.com.

Train service is available into Fredericksburg, Virginia. A possibility exists of extra sections being made available, as Washington, D.C., is a marshaling area for Amtrak. A minimum of one chaperone is required for every six minors younger than 18.

Airline

It is possible to negotiate special group airfares with carriers. If your region has not negotiated a fare agreement on behalf of all the participants from that region, you will want to explore the possibility of combining the involvement of other councils that could use the same airline.

A greater number of potential passengers will provide greater savings. All participants will qualify for the current discounted fare. These seats are capacity controlled. You will need to negotiate the number of seats available on each aircraft at the discounted fare.

Buses

You should request proposals from established, reputable companies with equipment suitable for your travel requirements. School buses should not be used except for short trips. Insurance limitations should be reviewed carefully. Equipment replacement capability is an important consideration in case of breakdowns. (Many tours have been ruined because no replacement capability was available.)

Developing Your Tour

Tours are an excellent opportunity for participants to learn the unique attractions of the different areas of our country. Participants should be encouraged to research the points of interest on the selected tour prior to departure. Selection of Travel Agent/Tour Operators

There are many qualified travel agents/tour operators available who specialize in developing tours. You should establish budget and time parameters and request proposals from those companies which have provided evidence of fiscal responsibility and experience.

Contracts should be reviewed for assurance that all items requested are included, and that cancellation penalties are realistic.

Tour Permit

Each Troop must secure a National Tour Permit from the regional service center even if the trip is less than 500 miles. They are available at Scouting Safely on Scouting.org Form # 4419.

Insurance

Included in the jamboree fee is accident and sickness insurance for all participants attending the jamboree.

Coverage for registered members of the BSA will be effective during travel from their homes to the jamboree site, from the jamboree site back home, and during their stay at the jamboree. Scouts and leaders also are covered under this program during the time of their prejamboree training.

The schedule of benefits is listed in your Council Jamboree Guide.

Unit and Personal Equipment

The method of transportation selected for your travel to the jamboree will determine the amount and type of unit and personal equipment that can be accommodated. Airline, bus, and train sales personnel can provide maximum sizes and weights permitted. Should you be returning from the jamboree by a different mode of transportation, restrictions regarding personal luggage and unit equipment should be checked and adhered to.

Arrival/Departure Jamboree Site

Troop transportation to and from the jamboree site will be available for the dates of July 26 and August 4 at Ronald Reagan Washington National Airport, Dulles International Airport, and Richmond, Va., airport. Personal luggage cannot include large trunks, footlockers, or items that you cannot carry. Transportation of troop and patrol equipment must be arranged separately.

Dead Storage

Buses used for transportation, which will stay at the site during the jamboree, will be provided with dead storage space at no cost.

Automobiles and vans used for transportation of participants (Scouts and leaders) will also be parked in the dead storage space at no cost and may not be removed until authorized by the BSA Security Service, Enterprise Risk Management Group. The primary mode of transportation upon arrival at the Jamboree is walking. Personal vehicles are prohibited to be used as transport around the Jamboree.

Vehicles with self-contained equipment (toilet facilities) will be required to be emptied prior to being placed in dead storage.

Update

For the latest information, contact jambotransport@netbsa.org.

Special information and procedures will be shared as needed in the monthly Jamboree Bulletin.

Avoid the Risk Zone

The Risk Zone is a state of physical and mental fatigue that is a major cause of highway crash fatalities. Jamboree troop leaders can heighten their awareness of this danger by reviewing the Driver's Pledge and the checklist below. Drivers who transport youth to and from jamboree activities should not wait until they are in the car to think about avoiding the Risk Zone. The Driver's Pledge is a commitment to planning ahead and avoiding killer fatigue. The checklist is a quick reminder of important safe driving tips. Included on the checklist are six conditions to check before heading out each day.

Getting There Safely

- Always use seat belts.
- Turn headlights on for safety.
- Don't drive when fatigued.
- Load, hitch, and tow trailers correctly.
- Avoid night driving.
- Ensure good mechanical condition.

DRIVER'S PLEDGE

- I will not drive when I feel fatigued. I realize that when I am fatigued, I process information more slowly and less accurately, and this impairs my ability to react in time to avoid accidents.
- I will arrange my schedule so that several days before driving to the prejangboree campout or to or from the jamboree site, I will get a good night's sleep every night to avoid the cumulative effect of not getting enough sleep.
- I will make trip preparations far enough in advance so that last-minute preparations don't interfere with my rest.
- I will make travel plans that take into account my personal biological clock and only drive during the part of the day when I know I will be alert.
- I will be smart about engaging in physical activities during Scouting outings and will make sure that I will be ready to drive alertly.

DO ALL THAT YOU CAN TO KEEP SCOUTS SAFE.
